

Energy Auditors

The list below provides details of companies who will undertake energy audits for churches. The Connexional Team has not worked with these companies directly, so this is not an endorsement of their services.

Auditors may want to see the previous year's energy bills, as well as floor plans if you have them.

As part of the decision-making process to engage the services of one of these companies, it is recommended you obtain a minimum of three comparative quotes detailing the scope of the services they will provide. You may also request example reports, to understand in more detail what the company can produce, though not every company will share these. Some companies may be able to offer reduced costs per audit if site visits are combined across a circuit or district.

If you have a company you would recommend, or want to feedback on one of the companies on this list, please contact the Net Zero Property Officer.

Inspired Efficiency

Based in Gloucestershire, they will survey churches across England and Wales. For churches further afield from their base, they will want to combine 6 or more churches (e.g. across a circuit or district) into one trip.
